

FCC-Austin Corporate Sponsorship Form

FCC-Austin is a chapter of an international network of families who have had the privilege of adopting their children from China.

We are an all-volunteer, non-profit organization. As a parent-to-parent resource network, we provide support for Central Texas families who have adopted from China, are in the process of adopting from China, or are interested in learning about adoption from China.

FCC-Austin also advocates for and provides support for children remaining in orphanages in China.

We invite any organization that has values that align with our own to partner with us through its financial support. While we respect the requested privacy of our members we are in a position to provide your organization with measured exposure to a group of parents likely to be interested in topics and products related to China and adoption.
